How to Measure

Available Tartans

Chest: Loose Measure under the arms from the back to the front of the chest, with arms down by your side

Western Isles

Scottish National Modern

Waist: Should be firm and taken from 1" above the navel

Black Shadow

Flower of Scotland

Hips: The hip measurement should be loose at the widest part

Grey Hebrides

Black Watch

Length: Kneel on the floor with your back straight (to attention) and measure from the top of the navel to the floor

Anderson Modern

Douglas Modern

How to Wear

MacArthur Hunting Modern

MacDonald of the Isles Modern

Kilt: The length should come in about mid knee and sit 1"-2" above navel. Once fastened the kilt should be positioned so the centre of the sett is absolutely central to the front.

MacDonald of the Isles Ancient

MacDonald Clanranald Ancient

MacIver Hunting Modern

Sporran. The sporran should be centred to the front of the kilt, care should be taken that it does not hang too high or too low. The straps pass through the sporran loops at the rear of the kilt

MacKay Ancient

MacKenzie Modern / Ancient

MacLeod Modern / Ancient

Sgian Dubh: Is worn down the outside of the right leg inside the kilt hose with only the top inch showing

MacNeil of Barra Modern

MacRae Modern

Ghillie Brogues: Start by pulling the laces tight and intertwining as you would for the first stage of tying a regular bow. Twist them 3 times and pull tight again to create a vertical thong. Pass the laces around the top of the ankle bone to the back and then round to the front. Pass them once more around the leg and fasten in a bow at the side.

Morrison Ancient

Murray of Atholl Modern

Top Tip: Do not tie the laces too high on the leg. Keep the laces clear of your calf muscles which flex when you walk and will work the laces loose
